Dorsey Corp. Buys Plants

The Dorsey Corporation (NYSE), Chattanooga, and Alcon Laboratories, Inc. (OTC), Fort Worth, announced on May 27, 1971, that Dorsey's subsidiary, Sewell, Inc., has acquired from Alcon its Polycy, Incorporated subsidiary for an undisclosed amount of cash.

Polycy, with annual sales of approximately $3 million, is a producer of blow-mold polyethylene containers primarily for liquid detergent and non-food institutional products. Polycy occupies a total of approximately 80,000 square feet in plants in Atlanta and New Orleans.

Sewell, which had sales in 1970 of approximately $9 million, is primarily a producer of blow-mold polyethylene containers principally for dairy and other food products. It has five plants located in Atlanta, Orlando, Charlotte, North Carolina, Miami and New Orleans.

Herbert L. Oakes, president of Dorsey, commented that the acquisition of Polycy represents a product diversification for Dorsey's plastic container subsidiary. William C. Connor, president of Alcon, said that this sale was in accordance with Alcon's stated policy to diversify itself of its industry in the plastic container business.

LAND BANK LOWERS INTEREST

James S. Pridden, Jr., Manager of Federal Land Bank Association of Enterprise, Alabama, announced today that effective June 1, 1971, the interest rate on all new Land bank loans made under the Variable Interest Rate Plan will be 7 1/2 percent. This is the second reduction on Land Bank loans in three months. He stated that effective the same date, the interest rate on all loans closed on the Variable Interest Rate Plan at 8 percent since March 1, 1971, are being reduced to 7 1/2 percent. Additionally all present borrowers have the right to reduce their loan interest rate, where applicable, to the new 7 1/2 percent rate offered under the Bank's Variable Interest Rate Plan.

Commenting further on this action Pridden stated that the lower interest rate on new loans and the reduction of interest rate on existing loans, is the established policy of the Land Bank in providing farmers with long term real estate loans at the lowest possible cost consistent with sound business. The recent decline of the Bank's money costs and the favorable outlook for 1971, have made it possible for the Land Bank to offer this second reduction in interest rates on the Variable Interest Rate Plan.

The Federal Land Bank Association of Enterprise has 1190 loans amounting to $11,809,621 to farmers in the counties of Coffee, Covington, Crenshaw, Geneva and Pike. It is one of 35 associations which are the counties of Coffee, Bank loans in Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Miss Prior, Mr. Stokes Marry

Miss Suzanne Prior and David Lamar Stokes were united in marriage Sunday afternoon, May 30, at four o'clock in the First Baptist Church in Elba. Reverend James A. Auchmuty, Jr., performed the double ring candle - light ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Prior; the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson W. Stokes, all of Elba.

Mr. James Pierce, organist, presented a program of nuptial music including selections from Bach. Church decorations included massive spring arrangements in gold urns of yellow snap dragons, deep pink peonies, blue iris, white carnations, yellow pom poms, pink roses, and baby's breath. In the center of the choir loft was a fifteen-candle candelabra with an arrangement of flat fern. Two silver ferns, branch candle-trees with burning white tapers were used on either side and interspersed with arrangements of flat fern. Two other flat fern arrangements were used as background complements. Family pews were marked with small pink markers with flat fern.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a candle-light gown of sole gown with a jeweled neckline. The gown was fitted with a bodice of embroidered Swedish imported lace over peau de sole accented with hand-beaded clusters of seed pearls and iridescent sequins and Bishop sleeves of lace and tulle. The long train was a candle-light tulle over peau de sole. Her finger-tip veil of illusion accented with clusters of seed pearls and sequins was attached to a floral headpiece. She carried a cascade arrangement of white bride roses and Stephanotis with loops of ivory peek-a-ribbon. Miss Pamela Gave Brunson, Birmingham, cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor. Miss Cynthia Stokes, Elba, sister of the bridegroom, served as flower girl. She wore a floor-length gown of blue peau de sole accented with Alencon lace medallions and a large sash. She carried a white wicker basket of rose buds and marguerite jais petals. Tommy Tatom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tatom and cousin of the groom, served as ring-bearer.

Mr. Jackson W. Stokes served his son as best man. Mr. Larry Grantham was groomsmen. Ushers were Mr. Lee Prior, brother of the bride; Mr. Mark Vaughan, cousin of the groom; Mr. Kenneth Grantham; Mr. Kim Dorsey; Mr. Murray Vaughan and Mr. Lee Boyd. Mrs. Fred Cramton directed the wedding.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained with a reception in the fellowship hall of the church. Mr. James Pierce provided the background music as Miss Barbara Brunson registered the guests. The bridal register table was covered with a floor-length pale yellow satin cloth edged with gilt ruying and tassels. Table appointments included brass candelabra and two wicker wedding bells with ivory and pastel flowers.

The bride's table was covered with an ivory skirt, its edges swagged with gilt ruying caught in the center front with tassels. The four-tiered wedding cake was separated by four columns and accented with symbols of marriage in Christ cross on top. Serving were Mrs. Larry Grantham of Elba, Miss Judy Thomas of Vernon and Miss Harriett McIntyre of Bessemer.

The groom's table, covered with an avocado green cloth edged with swags of gilt ruying, was centered with a circular chocolate cake with chocolate grapes. Candelsticks emerging from the middle of the cake held displays of colorful fruit. Mrs. Randy Griffin and Miss Patricia Kennedy served at the groom's table.

The punch table, similar to the bride's table, held a crystal punch service, encircled with clusters of yellow mums and grapes. A brass candelabra with crystal prisms completed the table appointments. Punch was served by Miss Cheryl Devane, Mrs. Kenneth Baker, and Miss Rebecca Morrow. Nuts and drinks were served by Miss Shirley Tucker and Mrs. Kenneth Arnold.

Others assisting in serving were Miss Jackie Stokes and Miss Susan Stokes. The bride chose a yellow and white linen dress with matching accessories for the wedding trip. The couple will make their home in Tuscaloosa where the groom will continue his studies at the University and the bride will begin graduate studies.

The seven dining tables placed about these rooms were covered with white linen cloths. Each was centered with a delicate white wrought iron candelabra holding five slender white candles which were intertwined with greenery. The bride's place was marked with a dainty china bell topped by a pair of white doves.

Arrangements of white wicker wedding bells filled with white anemones, lily of the valley, and silver three-branched candelabra holding white candles were placed in the various rooms to create a bridal theme. Guests were invited into the dining room where the long buffet table was set with silver appointments centered with a tall silver candelabra whose nine white tapers were tied with baby ivy, white doves and silver wedding rings.

Washington Report

by GEORGE ANDREWS
Member of Congress
Third District of Ala.

It's amazing what a little ping pong match has done to this nation's safe and sensible policy toward Communist China.

The Nixon administration suddenly is ready to welcome this outlaw nation with open arms, just as if she were ready at last to join the civilized world.

What, after all, has actually happened? Red China has allowed a few ping pong players and a few journalists to have a look inside the Bamboo Curtain. In the cases of a couple of the American players, their thinking was as far off as their game.

The mere fact that Communist China, for her own well-conceived reasons, might possibly want to have some kind of relations with the United States does not mean that she deserves to have such relations.

In fact, the Nixon Administration is playing with fire when it talks about a new China policy, complete with lifting the travel ban on Americans visiting that country and a revival of trade.

Now that the fact that Red China continues to supply arms to North Vietnam and thereby contributes to the deaths of American soldiers, the anti-American slogans issued during Mao Tse-tung's recent May Day Celebration were anything but friendly to the United States.

"U.S. imperialism is doomed to defeat, no matter what frenzied struggles it may put up," Chairman Mao said to the masses on May Day.

He called on "all peace-loving countries and peoples who are subject to aggression, control, intervention or bullying by U. S. imperialism to unite and resolutely oppose the power policies of the two superpowers (United States and Soviet Union)."

Naturally, Peking supports this country's anti-war rabble, many of whom openly confess to being Mao-Marxists. On April 25, Chinese Prime Minister Chou En-lai, a butcher in his own right, congratulated "the revolutionary storm of the American people's struggle against the Nixon Administration's policy of aggression and war."

That is what the Chinese Communist Party of the People's Republic of China says. Of course, it has a membership of about two percent of the country's 700 million people, but it is the only voice allowed to be heard.

That is what the enslaver of 700 million minds and bodies says. Does she talk like she wants to be friends with the United States? Forget what she says, for a moment, and look at what she does.

She supplies the majority of North Vietnam's small arms—those items Hand cannot get from the Soviet Union—to keep them in the war against the United States.

She spreads her own special deadly brand of guerrilla-type warfare in Latin America, largely through Fidel Castro's Cuba. She sends instructors into the Middle East to train Arab guerrilla fighters in terror tactics and floods the area with propaganda aimed at the destruction of Israel.

She takes care of and supports a Cambodian Prince Sihanouk, a tyrant who was deposed by his own people and who seeks to return to the job. She has waged war against the United States and the United Nations in Korea, invaded India, liquidated the population of Little Tibet, and conducted subversion in troubled African states.

On the basis of what she says and does, Red China has given indication that she wants to work in peace with anybody. If she looks favorably toward America, and there is little significant evidence that she does, it can only be in furtherance of her own designs for world conquest and our eventual destruction.

It has an outstanding record in tracking down overlords of organized crime and subversives in this country.

Since we are entering another age of permissiveness, in which subversive organizations inevitably grow and expand their activities, it follows that Hoover's hard-line approach toward these people would make him enemies—and some of those same enemies are in the front ranks of the current attack on the venerable director.

J. Edgar Hoover is 76 years old. He has never hidden the fact, and as far as I know, being 76 years old is no crime, if his liberal Congressional critics are so concerned about Hoover's age, why are they not equally concerned about the Supreme Court Justices Hugo Black and William O. Douglas?

Here are two old men busily engaged in destroying the basic institutions on which our nation has achieved its greatness. J. Edgar Hoover has spent a lifetime protecting these institutions.

If J. Edgar Hoover wants to retire, that is up to him. It would be a tragic loss to the nation, in my opinion, and I would hope that he would not make that decision right away.

However, Americans should see through the behavior of Hoover's critics, who are largely political and in many cases, are meant to undermine confidence in the Government and worse.

ASCS Reminds Farmers Of Program Deadlines

Producers have to certify their compliance under the 1971 set-aside farm programs. Deadline for certification in Coffee County is July 15, according to Leon Weeks, Chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

In most cases, it will be to a producer's advantage to certify his program as early as possible, he said. However, he emphasized that early certification is optional, and that a producer may certify at any time through July 15.

A producer must complete his certification before he can receive any set-aside payment. To certify a producer signs a statement at the County ASCS Office showing the acreages devoted to various crops under the 1971 farm program. At the same time, he designates the amount and location of his set-aside acres.

"The Coffee County ASCS Office is ready to give farmers all possible help in correctly certifying their acres," Chairman Weeks said. "County Executive Director, C. L. Dean and his staff will be glad to answer any questions or help with problems."

The ASCS Committee Chairman pointed out that the preliminary feed grain and cotton payments could be complete, as additional payments depend on changes in market conditions. Such changes are not foreseen, he said.

Kleinert's Tells Of Buying Another Plant

Kleinert's, Inc., (Amex) announces the fourth acquisition in the two-year period under the new Kleinert's management, effective June 4, 1971. All prior acquisitions have been in the shoe manufacturing field and resulted in the development of the Briarwood Corporation, a subsidiary manufacturing shoes exclusively for the retail trade.

This latest acquisition, Stayon Products, Inc., a manufacturer of infant-ware, marks the beginning of an expansion program in the infantwear business. This is a traditional business and is the field in which the company developed its name in the retail trade.

Stayon operates four factories, two in South Carolina, and one in North Carolina, and one in Maine. Their sales for fiscal 1970 were 9.8 million dollars, most of which were through chain stores. New products available from the Stayon acquisition will result in increased production levels at the infantwear plant.

Kleinert's also announced the completion of their facility rebuilding program started two years ago. The Kutzow Distribution Center has been completed and is now the point from which most Kleinert manufactured goods are distributed. All products manufactured in Elba go either to the Kutzow Distribution Center, or to the Alabama Press Association.

Robert Bryan, Publisher of The Cullman Times and Athens News Courier, said his organization would have the experience of legislative bodies in other states and would have recognized that such measures as this are "discriminatory and practically impossible to administer."

According to advance statistics compiled by the American Hospital Association, the average cost per patient day in Alabama hospitals last year was $60.64, as compared to the national average cost of $81.01.

The Elba General Hospital reported a $31,000 average cost per patient day last year, according to Administrator Lowell Benton. He says Elba General is averaging about 8,000 patient days each year, (this means 8,000 people in the hospital one day each, or 4,000 in the hospital 2 days each, or 2,000 in the hospital for 4 days each.)

He said Alabama's favorable cost statistics are greatly due to the efforts of hospital administrators to initiate cost containment practices. "One of the most difficult problems a hospital administrator faces is trying to keep patient costs down, when wages, equipment and supplies are skyrocketing," he said. "Alabama's hospitals have shown great leadership in coming up with means of controlling costs and sharing these procedures with one another."
